

Since my home phone is a service PAID FOR BY ME, I do not wish to receive unsolicited business phone calls from anyone, for any reason. If I wish to conduct business with anyone, I will call them. I have never done business with anyone calling me at home after hours, and I never will.

Just because the phone line is there does not imply that I consent to anyone calling me to sell me something. Leave the no call list as is, or if need be, strengthen it, but let the telemarketers know that people on the do not call lists want to be left alone, end of discussion!!!
